Program Description

Fire Protection and Life Safety Concerns Cannabis Cultivation and Production Facilities

Jensen Hughes will present on fire protection and life safety concerns associated with cannabis cultivation and production facilities as well as retail/dispensary locations. The presentation will provide background information on cannabis itself, including key chemical components and their effects. It will discuss how a cannabis plant goes from a seed to a consumable product in a commercial cultivation & processing facility and the fire protection & life safety hazards associated with each step of the process. We will examine sample facility floor plans, discuss common compliance issues, and discuss operational considerations for responding to emergencies at these facilities.
